TLC Welcomes New Director of Occupational Therapy Brigid Baker

Rockville, Md.— TLC—The Treatment and Learning Centers, a local, non-profit organization that provides educational, therapeutic, and vocational services to children and adults with disabilities welcomes new Director of Occupational Therapy Brigid Baker, OTR/L.

Patricia Ritter, Executive Director of TLC said, “Brigid’s professionalism, energy and enthusiasm for this field will be a great benefit to children served by TLC’s Occupational Therapy Services. Brigid has already hit the ground running, joining TLC at the beginning of Occupational Therapy Month during which we provide workshops and screenings for the community. We are lucky to have Brigid on staff.”

Ms. Baker brings over 15 years of occupational therapy experience to TLC. As Pediatric Program Clinical Director in Frederick, MD, Ms. Baker evaluated and treated pediatric patients with variety of diagnoses including autism, pervasive development disorder, developmental delay, and sensory processing disorder. Ms. Baker has been working with children for over 14 years in a variety of settings including hospitals, outpatient centers, schools, early intervention centers as well as private practice. Ms. Baker has been managing other therapists for over eight years, developing successful recognition and motivation initiatives. At her previous organization, Ms. Baker organized a parent support group and led her clinic to participate in community events and fundraisers.

Ms. Baker holds a Bachelor of Science in Occupational Therapy from The Ohio State University, completed her Pre-Occupational Therapy work at Bowling Green State University, and did internships at The Cleveland Clinic and Northwestern Memorial Institute of Psychiatry. She is SIPT (Sensory Integration and Praxis Test) certified as well as certified for the The Therapeutic Listening Program.

Ms. Baker enjoys practicing yoga and reading, and resides in Germantown, MD.
